<h1>kodaikanal</h1>

Kodaikanal

    Kodaikanal is one of the very popular holiday destination hill resorts in South India. This hill station stands 7200 feet above sea level and situated in upper palani hills of the westernghats near Madurai in Tamil Nadu. Kodaikanal is also popularly known as the princes of Hill Stations.

    The cool and misty weather, the scenic beauty of the rolling hills and the wooded forest of Kodaikanal and its surroundings will mesmerize any visitor throughout the year. Walk through the wooded forests, row in the lake, bath in one of the splashing waterfalls, go for horse riding and cycling around the lake or simply admire the views.

    Kodaikanal Observatory

    The Kodaikanal Observatory of the Indian Institute of Astrophysics is located in the beautiful Palani range of hills in Southern India. It was established in 1899 as a Solar Physics Observatory and all the activities of the Madras Observatory were shifted to Kodaikanal.

    20cm Refractor

A 20 cm refractor at the Observatory is used occasionally for cometary and occultation observations. It is also sometimes made available to visitors for night sky viewing.

Astronomy Museum

The Observatory has arranged a popular Astronomy museum on campus for the visitors. The displays are mainly pictorial, supported by a few models. A live solar image and the Fraunhofer spectrum are also presented. From April 1st to June 15th Kodaikanal Observatory is open to public between 10:00 to 12:00 hrs and 14:00 to 16:00 hrs. For the rest of the year the Observatory will be open to public only on every Friday between 10:00 to 12:00 hrs.

<h1>ooty</h1>

My journey to Ooty, the renowned hill station in the southern part of India, was nothing short of enchanting. The moment I arrived, I was greeted by the cool mountain air and the lush green landscapes that stretched as far as the eye could see. I had the privilege of staying at a charming colonial-era cottage that overlooked the picturesque Ooty Lake.

During my visit, I explored the breathtaking Botanical Gardens, home to a rich tapestry of vibrant flowers, rare plants, and giant trees that cast a soothing shade. The scent of eucalyptus filled the air as I wandered through the terraced gardens, making the experience even more delightful.

One of the highlights of my trip was a ride on the historic Nilgiri Mountain Railway, a UNESCO World Heritage site. The quaint blue train chugged along, offering stunning vistas of the Nilgiri Hills and lush tea plantations. I felt like I had stepped back in time to an era when steam locomotives were a primary mode of transportation.

Exploring the tea estates that surround Ooty was another unforgettable experience. I spent a day at one of the local tea factories, where I learned about the tea-making process from plucking the leaves to sipping a freshly brewed cup of tea. The verdant tea gardens provided a perfect backdrop for relaxation and rejuvenation.

A visit to Doddabetta Peak, the highest point in the Nilgiri Mountains, was an absolute must. From the summit, I marveled at the panoramic views of the lush valleys and distant hills. The vista was particularly captivating during sunrise, as the sun's golden rays pierced through the mist, creating a mesmerizing spectacle.

I also took a leisurely boat ride on Ooty Lake, where the serene waters mirrored the surrounding hills and forests. The experience was peaceful and provided a moment of quiet reflection.

As the sun set over Ooty, I found myself relishing in the warmth of a cozy local café, savoring freshly baked goods and a hot cup of tea. Ooty's colonial charm, lush landscapes, and friendly locals had left an indelible mark on me.

In the end, my journey to Ooty was a harmonious blend of natural beauty, cultural exploration, and tranquility. It was an experience that left me with memories to cherish for a lifetime, and a longing to return to this captivating hill station in the future.

I set on a journey to achieve my long-lasting dream of studying abroad. This one dream somehow had many other dreams attached (like traveling and living by myself) to it and one of them was visiting London.

Always fascinated by the beauty of the city as shown in Bollywood movies, this girl fell in love with London. It wouldn't be wrong to say that my love for kodaikanal

Kodaikanal Kodaikanal is one of the very popular holiday destination hill resorts in South India. This hill station stands 7200 feet above sea level and situated in upper palani hills of the westernghats near Madurai in Tamil Nadu. Kodaikanal is also popularly known as the princes of Hill Stations. The cool and misty weather, the scenic beauty of the rolling hills and the wooded forest of Kodaikanal and its surroundings will mesmerize any visitor throughout the year. Walk through the wooded forests, row in the lake, bath in one of the splashing waterfalls, go for horse riding and cycling around the lake or simply admire the views. Kodaikanal Observatory The Kodaikanal Observatory of the Indian Institute of Astrophysics is located in the beautiful Palani range of hills in Southern India. It was established in 1899 as a Solar Physics Observatory and all the activities of the Madras Observatory were shifted to Kodaikanal. 20cm Refractor A 20 cm refractor at the Observatory is used occasionally for cometary and occultation observations. It is also sometimes made available to visitors for night sky viewing. Astronomy Museum The Observatory has arranged a popular Astronomy museum on campus for the visitors. The displays are mainly pictorial, supported by a few models. A live solar image and the Fraunhofer spectrum are also presented. From April 1st to June 15th Kodaikanal Observatory is open to public between 10:00 to 12:00 hrs and 14:00 to 16:00 hrs. For the rest of the year the Observatory will be open to public only on every Friday between 10:00 to 12:00 hrs. My journey to Ooty, the renowned hill station in the southern part of India, was nothing short of enchanting. The moment I arrived, I was greeted by the cool mountain air and the lush green landscapes that stretched as far as the eye could see. I had the privilege of staying at a charming colonial-era cottage that overlooked the picturesque Ooty Lake. During my visit, I explored the breathtaking Botanical Gardens, home to a rich tapestry of vibrant flowers, rare plants, and giant trees that cast a soothing shade. The scent of eucalyptus filled the air as I wandered through the terraced gardens, making the experience even more delightful. One of the highlights of my trip was a ride on the historic Nilgiri Mountain Railway, a UNESCO World Heritage site. The quaint blue train chugged along, offering stunning vistas of the Nilgiri Hills and lush tea plantations. I felt like I had stepped back in time to an era when steam locomotives were a primary mode of transportation. Exploring the tea estates that surround Ooty was another unforgettable experience. I spent a day at one of the local tea factories, where I learned about the tea-making process from plucking the leaves to sipping a freshly brewed cup of tea. The verdant tea gardens provided a perfect backdrop for relaxation and rejuvenation. A visit to Doddabetta Peak, the highest point in the Nilgiri Mountains, was an absolute must. From the summit, I marveled at the panoramic views of the lush valleys and distant hills. The vista was particularly captivating during sunrise, as the sun's golden rays pierced through the mist, creating a mesmerizing spectacle. I also took a leisurely boat ride on Ooty Lake, where the serene waters mirrored the surrounding hills and forests. The experience was peaceful and provided a moment of quiet reflection. As the sun set over Ooty, I found myself relishing in the warmth of a cozy local café, savoring freshly baked goods and a hot cup of tea. Ooty's colonial charm, lush landscapes, and friendly locals had left an indelible mark on me. In the end, my journey to Ooty was a harmonious blend of natural beauty, cultural exploration, and tranquility. It was an experience that left me with memories to cherish for a lifetime, and a longing to return to this captivating hill station in the future.

I set on a journey to achieve my long-lasting dream of studying abroad. This one dream somehow had many other dreams attached (like traveling and living by myself) to it and one of them was visiting London. Always fascinated by the beauty of the city as shown in Bollywood movies, this girl fell in love with London. It wouldn't be wrong to say that my love for London only grew stronger when I actually visited this 'Gorgeous' (as the English say) city. As I set off to pursue my master's from the UK, I first landed in London before going to Leeds. It was September, the weather was pleasant and the days were fairly short. Since I was there with my dad, we stayed at the Novotel Hotel at Hammersmith. 3 days here, we went on to explore the city, visiting the major tourist attractions like Tower Bridge, London Eye, Buckingham Palace, and St. Pauls Cathedral as we had my dad's friend showing us around. This was my first visit to London. LONDON WITH FRIENDS (Visit 2) Three months later (In December), I planned another trip to London, this time from Leeds, with my friends. We booked an Airbnb for the 4 of us and shared it with 4 other guests who stayed in a room upstairs. The worst part about this accommodation was that it was far from the main attractions and we had a shared bathroom. This time, my experience in London was different altogether. We walked around the city on foot, at midnight. London was bustling, Millennium bridge lit and empty, Thames calm, London Eye shining and people cheerful. The best thing about London is that the English are very polite and friendly. If you caught an eye with someone, they will definitely pass a smile
